

Southern Nevada Agency Partnership

NEVADA
STATE MUSEUM
LOST CITY

Southern Nevada Archaeology Speaker Series

Stone tool use is the oldest form of technology used by humans. During this live demonstration, see and learn about the materials and process that go into creating stone tools, and why this understanding is so important to archaeologists.

Flintknapping: An Introduction and Demonstration of How Stone Tools are Made.

May 12, 2018 at 2 pm

FREE for members or with paid admission

721 S. Moapa Valley Blvd.

Overton, NV 89040

Biography: Justin DeMaio is an archaeologist currently working for the Bureau of Land Management in the Las Vegas Field Office. His particular interest in stone tool technology led him to start flintknapping early on his career. Although Justin is currently based in southern Nevada, he has done archaeological projects throughout the western United States and also Pennsylvania.