Below is some brief guidance on factors to consider when reviewing applications:

Demonstrated grant experience.

- Did the applicant provide sufficient data to convince you that the project will be effective and produce a viable product? Was the proof compelling?
- Are you confident that this applicant has the knowledge, skills and abilities to perform all its tasks well? Will the applicants resources be adequate to meet their match needs? Does the applicant suggest new ways to enhance performance? Did the applicant present sufficient performance history to convince you of its ability?
- Has the applicant applied for subgrant funds in the past? Has the applicant been successful in their previous subgrants? Has there been any history of problems with the applicant? Does the applicant list or describe prior experience that will ensure all the skills necessary to perform tasks well?
- Does the applicant indicate they have experience or knowledge of the Secretary of the Interior's Standards? Has the applicant provided adequate documentation in the form of photos, project descriptions, resumes/vitas for proposed consultants?

Clear and Precise Description of Project.

- Did the applicant's proposal provide all the necessary information requested in the application in a professional manner?
- Did the application cause doubt regarding the applicant's ability to complete the necessary tasks?
- Was the application easy to understand and did it provide answers to questions, or did it create more questions?
- Has the applicant established a budget that is reasonable for the project? Is SHPO receiving good value for its dollars? Does the budget appear cost-effective? Are the costs reasonable compared to similar past projects? Will there be any additional costs or other ongoing expenses?
